

IN THE ABSTRACT

Please delete the current Abstract in its entirety and substitute therefore the following New Abstract:

NEW ABSTRACT

A network that provides a multicast request to at least two second modules in response to a single request from the first module. The network may comprise a facility to map a multicast address onto two or more further addresses. In an embodiment, a connection identifier which identifies a multicast connection can be sent along with a request.